

KASH MAHMOOD

DEPUTY CHIEF DIGITAL OFFICER

Kash Mahmood is the ABS Deputy Chief Digital Officer, based at ABS Corporate Headquarters in Houston, Texas. In his current position, Mahmood is responsible for the development and deployment of digital tools and products that enhance class services.

Prior to his current role, Mahmood served as ABS Vice President for Strategic Projects where he focused on streamlining the delivery of IT projects and developing business intelligence capabilities that improved business and operational decisions.

Before joining ABS, Mahmood worked for a number of organizations including NOV, Accenture and Kinder Morgan where he was responsible for a broad range of projects involving software development, data analytics, digital innovation, automation and asset management strategies.

Mahmood graduated from the University of Houston, with a Bachelor's degree in Management Information Systems. He received a Master of Science in Technology Commercialization from the University of Texas and is a graduate of Harvard Business School's Executive General Management program.